

Gmarkets Launches New Fixed Income and Capital Markets Data Service in the United States

December 8, 2009 (TORONTO) – Gmarkets Inc., a financial information company specializing in the delivery of real-time, global fixed income and capital markets data, has launched a new service in the United States.

Gmarkets' real-time data is accessible through a professional workstation called Gmarkets Pilot, Gmarkets Data Feed in either XML or a proprietary API, and Gmarkets Financial Newswire, all delivered and updated over the Internet.

Gmarkets' subscribers include both sell side and buy side market participants with a substantial presence in most financial institutions in Canada and a growing footprint in the U.S.

"Gmarkets' steady growth since 2005 reflects client demand for alternative services amongst real-time market data consumers," said Robin Hanlon, Gmarkets' President and CEO. "We are very pleased to offer our services to financial market participants in the U.S. and welcome them to our expanding user community."

About Gmarkets Inc.

Gmarkets is a financial information company specializing in the delivery of real-time, global fixed income and capital markets data. Our flagship product, GMARKETS PILOT, is a real-time desktop workstation for financial professionals delivered via the Internet. Our other services also include high-speed data feeds. Gmarkets' real-time services cover bonds, money markets, foreign exchange, derivatives and exchange traded data. For more information, visit our website at www.gmkts.com.

For more information please contact:

Robin Hanlon

416-363-9743

robin@gmkts.com